The Process of Issuing a Signature Verification Letter

Initiating the Verification

The process begins with a request from the concerned individual or entity who needs to verify a signature. This could be initiated by a bank, legal authority, employer, or individual. The requesting party must typically provide:

- The document containing the signature to be verified.
- Evidence of identity of the signer.
- A formal request letter specifying the purpose of verification.

Signature Comparison and Analysis

The verifying authority undertakes a meticulous comparison process, which involves:

- Visual Inspection: Comparing the questioned signature with known authentic samples.
- Examination of Writing Traits: Analyzing stroke patterns, pressure, slant, spacing, and unique characteristics.
- Use of Forensic Tools: Employing magnification, digital analysis, or forensic handwriting examination techniques.

Forensic handwriting experts or certified authenticators may be engaged for complex cases requiring detailed analysis.

Preparation and Issuance of the Letter

Once the verification process concludes, the authorized entity prepares a formal letter that typically includes:

- The identity of the signer and the verifier.

- Description of the document examined.
- A statement confirming whether the signature matches the known authentic signature.
- Details of the verification process conducted.
- Date and signature of the verifier, often with official seal or stamp for authenticity.

This letter is then delivered to the requesting party, often in a sealed or notarized format to prevent tampering.

Types of Signature Verification Letters

Signature verification letters vary based on their purpose, scope, and the verifying authority. Some common types include:

General Certificate of Signature Verification

A broad affirmation that a signature appears genuine based on comparison with known samples. It is often used in routine banking or administrative contexts.

Forensic Signature Verification Report

A detailed report prepared by forensic document examiners, especially in legal disputes involving suspected forgery or contested signatures. These reports include comprehensive analysis and may be used as evidence in court.

Notarized Signature Verification Letter
